INTRODUCTION

The Office of the Chief Student Development and Success Officers has prepared this publication of the 2015-2017 Student Handbook: A University Information Guide for the purpose of acquainting the student with a wide array of general information to support his or her matriculation at the University of the District of Columbia.

Accordingly, the standard term “student” is defined to include all persons who officially: (1) register and enroll on a full-time or part-time basis and (2) who maintain current enrollment status or (3) who may attend any other postsecondary educational institution while matriculating at the University.

This standard term is generic and applicable for all special, non-credit, certificate, diploma, undergraduate, graduate and law school students. Persons who are not officially enrolled for a particular term (i.e., summer), but who have a continuing relationship with the University are also considered “students.” Information for undergraduate and graduate students is collected conveniently in special sections.

General information to support the matriculation of students enrolled in the David A. Clarke School of Law are referenced in the David A. Clarke School of Law Student Handbook: A Guide to Academic Regulations and Requirements, <http://www.law.udc.edu/?page=Handbooks>.

The standards of the Student Code of Conduct, either academic or non-academic, in this publication apply to all groups of students as described above. The provisions of the Student Handbook are not contractual covenants between the University and any member of the University community, as defined in the handbook. The Student Handbook creates no contractual rights obligations between the University and any member of the University community.

The University reserves the right to amend the Student Handbook at any time. It is and remains the responsibility of members of the University community to review not only the Student Handbook, but also the University’s website, <http://www.udc.edu>, for any amendments. If any provision of the Handbook is later determined to be invalid, the resulting invalidity of that provision shall not affect the enforceability of the remaining provisions of the Handbook.

These assemblies are designed to inspire, inform and honor those alumni and students who have made significant accomplishments and achievements at the University.

Commencement: The University of the District of Columbia holds the annual graduation ceremony that recognizes those students who have satisfactorily completed the degree requirements in their chosen fields of study. Students in the undergraduate, graduate and law school programs join in the celebration of their achievement along with families and friends from around the world. Homecoming: The annual student and alumni event is designed to bring alumni, students, and friends back (home) to campus to celebrate the legacy of the University of the District of Columbia.

Greek Letter Fraternities and Sororities at the University of the District of Columbia

Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc.

The founders of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc. were no ordinary achievers. Given racial attitudes in 1906, their accomplishments were monumental. As founder, Henry Callis stated - because the half-dozen African American students at Cornell University during the school year 1904-05 did not return to campus the following year - the incoming students in 1905-06, in founding Alpha Phi Alpha, were determined to bind themselves together to ensure that each would survive in the racially hostile environment. In coming together with this simple act, they preceded by decades the emergence of such on-campus programs as affirmative action, upward bound and remedial assistance. The students set outstanding examples of scholarship, leadership and success-preceding the efforts even of the NAACP and similar civil rights organizations. Students interested in joining the brotherhood of Alpha Phi Alpha must meet the academic standards of the fraternity through a written application.

Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc.

Alpha Kappa Alpha is a sisterhood composed of women who have consciously chosen this affiliation as a means of self-fulfillment through volunteer service. Alpha Kappa Alpha cultivates and encourages high scholastic and ethical standards; promotes unity and friendship among college women; alleviates problems concerning girls and women; maintains a progressive interest in college life; and serves all mankind through a nucleus of more than 280,000 women in the United States, the Caribbean, Europe, and Africa.

In 1908, Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority became America's first Greek-letter organization established by Black college women. Its roots date back to Howard University, Washington, D.C., where the idea for formation was conceived by Ethel Hedgeman Lyle of St. Louis, Missouri. She viewed the Sorority as an instrument for enriching the social and intellectual aspects of college life by providing mental stimulation through interaction with friends and associates.

Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, Inc.

It was the vision of these astute men that enabled them in the school year 1910 - 11, more specifically the night of January 5, 1911, on the campus of Indiana University at Bloomington, Indiana, to sow the seed of a fraternal tree whose fruit is available to, and now enjoyed by, college men everywhere, regardless of their color, religion or national origin. It is a fact of which KAPPA ALPHA PSI is justly proud that the Constitution has never contained any clause that either excluded or suggested the exclusion of a man from membership merely because of his color, creed, or national origin. The Constitution of KAPPA ALPHA PSI is predicated upon, and dedicated to, the principles of achievement through a truly democratic Fraternity. Chartered and incorporated originally under the laws of the state of Indiana as Kappa Alpha Nu on April 15, 1911, the name was changed to KAPPA ALPHA PSI on a resolution offered and adopted at the Grand Chapter in December 1914.

Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc.

On Friday evening, November 17, 1911, three Howard University undergraduate students, with the assistance of their faculty advisor, gave birth to the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc. This event occurred in the office of biology Professor Ernest E. Just, the faculty advisor, in the Science Hall (now known as Thirkield Hall). The three liberal arts students were Reverend Edgar A. Love, Oscar J. Cooper and Frank Coleman. From the initials of the Greek phrase meaning “friendship is essential to the soul,” the name Omega Psi Phi was derived. The phrase was selected as the motto. Manhood, Scholarship, Perseverance and Uplift were adopted as Cardinal Principles. The Omicron Gamma Chapter of Omega Psi Phi exists at the University of the District of Columbia.

Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc.

Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. was founded at Howard University on January 13, 1913 by twenty-two undergraduate students. The sorority maintains a vital interest in public service through its National Five Point program, which focuses on Educational Development, Economic Development, Physical and Mental Health, Political Awareness and Involvement. The 200,000 plus women of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. hold membership in more than 900 chapters located in the United States, Germany, Japan, the Republic of Korea, the islands of Bermuda and Bahamas, and the Virgin Islands.

Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc.

Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc., an international organization of college and professional men was founded in 1914 at Howard University. Its principles are Brotherhood, Scholarship and Service. The principles are exhibited in the Fraternity motto, “Culture for Service and Service to Humanity.” Its membership exceeds 110,000 men with 650 chapters throughout the world. Students interested in becoming members must have a cumulative grade point average of not less than 2.5 and have completed at least 24 credit hours.

Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc.

Founded January 16, 1920, Zetas began as an idea conceived by five coeds at Howard University in Washington, DC: Arizona Cleaver, Myrtle Tyler, Viola Tyler, Fannie Pettie and Pearl Neal. These five women, also known as the Five Pearls, dared to depart from the traditional coalitions for black women and sought to establish a new organization predicated on the precepts of Scholarship, Service, Sisterly Love and Finer Womanhood. The chapter has a membership of 800+ chapters throughout the world. Students interested in membership must be pursuing a baccalaureate degree with a track record of community service.

Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority, Inc.

The Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority, Inc. was founded on the campus of Butler University on November 12, 1922, by seven school teachers in Indianapolis, Indiana. It was incorporated within the state of Indiana in December 1922 and as a national collegiate sorority on December 30, 1929, at which time a charter was granted and the Alpha chapter was established.

Iota Phi Theta Fraternity, Inc.

On September 19, 1963, at Morgan State College (now Morgan State University), 12 students founded what is now the nation’s fifth largest, predominately African-American social service fraternity: The Iota Phi Theta Fraternity, Incorporated. Based upon their ages, heightened responsibilities, and increased level of maturity, this group had a slightly different perspective than the norm for college students. It was this perspective from which they established the Fraternity’s purpose, “The development and perpetuation of Scholarship, Leadership, Citizenship, Fidelity, and Brotherhood among Men.” Additionally, they conceived the Fraternity’s motto, “Building a Tradition, Not Resting Upon One!” Today, Iota Phi Theta® consists of over 250 chapters located in 40 States, the District of Columbia and the Republic of Korea. The scope of the organization extends throughout the nation, from California to New York; from Wyoming to Florida; and from Wisconsin to the Bahamas Islands.

Refunds and the Return of Title IV Federal Student Aid Funds Policy

Purpose: The purpose of this instructional notice is to state the University's institutional policies and procedures, as well as the Federal guidelines, pertaining to the Refund and Return of Title IV Funds.

Background: The Federal guidelines for Title IV Funds require that if a student withdraws, is suspended or is expelled from the University that he or she may be required to return all or a portion of the Federal Title IV funds awarded to them. If a recipient of Title IV aid (Pell Grant, Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant, D. C. Leveraging Educational Assistance Partnership Program, Federal Direct Subsidized and Unsubsidized Loan Program) withdraws during a payment period (i.e., a period of enrollment), the University must calculate the amount of Title IV aid the student earned. Unearned Title IV funds must be returned to the Title IV programs.

Procedures – Official Withdrawal Process: The withdrawal process begins in the Registrar's Office. A student may totally withdraw from the University (i.e., all classes for which they are enrolled) up to and including the last day of class (i.e., prior to the beginning of the final examination period).

Students who totally withdraw from the University must obtain the signature of the chairperson of the academic department offering their major and the dean of their college or school on the UDC-SRS – 529, Withdrawal/Leave of Absence Form. A student who totally withdraws from the University must apply for re-admission.

Determining Withdrawal Date

The withdrawal date is the date of payment of the withdrawal fee to the Cashier's Office as posted in the Banner system that a student may review via their MyUDC student portal. If a student fails to provide written notification of his or her withdrawal from the University in a timely manner, then the Office of Financial Aid determines the withdrawal to be used in the repayment calculation.

University's Responsibility to Return Title IV Funds and Order of Return

After notification by a student of his or her withdrawal from the University, the Office of Financial Aid has:

- 30 days to return Title IV funds;
- 30 days to notify a student of grant overpayment requirements;
- 30 days to notify a student of eligibility for post withdrawal disbursement;
- 90 days to send post withdrawal disbursement to a student and/or parent.

The University assesses tuition, fees, and books as allowable institutional charges in the calculation of the Return of Title IV Funds. A student who totally withdraws from the University and receives a refund check may be in an overpayment status.

Order of Return Policy:

- The University returns the lesser of unearned Title IV Aid or
- The University's charges for the period multiplied by the percentage of Title IV aid that was unearned. The University must return Title IV funds to the programs from which the student received aid in the following order, up to the net amount disbursed from each source:
 - Federal Direct Unsubsidized Loan
 - Federal Direct Subsidized Loan
 - Perkins Loans
 - PLUS Loans
 - Federal Pell Grants

- Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant
- DC Leveraging Educational Assistance Partnership Program (LEAP)
- Other assistance under Title IV

Students' Responsibility to Return Title IV Funds:

The student must return funds to the Title IV fund from which it was received. The student must return the net amount disbursed from each funding source.

The student (or parent, if a Federal PLUS loan) returns funds to the loan programs in accordance with the terms of the loan, and to grant programs as an overpayment. In other words, the student will be repaying any unearned loan funds in the same manner that he or she will be repaying earned loan funds. Grant overpayments are subject to a repayment arrangement satisfactory to the University, or overpayment collection procedures prescribed by the Secretary of the Department of Education.

Note: The student automatically retains eligibility for Title IV assistance for 45 days after the University sends the notification of a grant overpayment and request for repayment arrangements to the student.

Procedures for Collection of Payment to Student:

- The student will be notified in writing within 30 days of the date of the University's determination that the student withdrew and a grant overpayment is due.
- The following repayment options are available: (A) Pay in full within 45 days. (B) Establish repayment arrangements with the University. (C) Establish repayment arrangements with the Department of Education.
- If student defaults in the repayment agreement, the University will report within 30 days to the Department of Education and National Student Loan Data System (NSLDS) that the student is in overpayment status.

DISABILITY RESOURCE CENTER

Building 44, Room A-39; Telephone: (202) 274-6417; Website: www.udc.edu/drc

At the University of the District of Columbia, students with disabilities will be integrated as completely as possible into the University community. UDC does not offer a specialized curriculum for persons with disabilities nor does it assume the role of a rehabilitation center.

The University does share responsibility with the student for adapting to campus facilities and programs to assist with individual needs. Students with disabilities at UDC have access to tools and resources that will enable them to manage day-to-day life in college. Self-advocacy and assertiveness will help the student gain the most from the UDC experience. A willingness to function in an environment requiring adaptability and change is also vitally important. The keys to success for persons with disabilities at UDC include:

- The ability and openness to realize personal strengths and limitations.
- The desire and aptitude to take responsibility for managing daily routines, as well as academic and personal success.
- The maturity to utilize resources, services, and communicate with the Disability Resource Center about their needs.
- The patience to spend the extra time necessary to study effectively.

Eligibility for Services

- Students must submit documentation from a licensed professional to verify the presence and impact of the disability.
- A Disability Resource Center (DRC) counselor reviews the documentation and supporting materials to certify eligibility for services.
- A DRC counselor meets with each student to determine academic adjustments and/or accommodations.

- Students are encouraged to submit early notification for services in order that their needs are addressed in a timely manner.

The Role of the Disability Resource Center

- Provides comprehensive access to UDC services through advocacy, readers, interpreters, scribes (note takers), test proctors, and counseling;
- Assists the University to comply with the provisions of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973;
- Provides reasonable accommodations to qualified students with documented disabilities;
- Assists the University community to understand the effects of disabilities and to eliminate physical, technical, and other barriers that limit the range of opportunities for students with disabilities;
- Maintains and protects the confidentiality of students' records as required by law;
- Provides DRC counselors on campus to work with students to determine appropriate accommodations and arrange support services;
- Maintains coordination with the instructors to ensure compliance with regulations.

Students under the age of 18 must also show proof of polio immunization. All students must have received at least one meningococcal vaccine within the last 5 years and one Td vaccine within the last 10 years.

Once you receive your letter of acceptance from the University, you should obtain your immunization records from your previous school and/or primary care provider then present them to UHS (not the Office of Admissions) on or before the day you come to register for classes. All records must be written in English. If you are missing any of the above vaccines, please plan to obtain the vaccines from your private health care providers' office, neighborhood health clinic, or local health department.

Healthcare professions students preparing for clinical rotations may be required to show documentation of additional vaccines and health information per their program requirements. International students and students studying or traveling abroad are recommended to have a TB screening within the last one year (2 years if cleared by chest x-ray). Students in the healthcare professions and athletics programs are required to submit proof of a recent physical examination and documentation of any required laboratory testing. All students with chronic medical conditions (e.g., allergies, seizures, diabetes, high blood pressure, asthma, disabilities) are recommended to have a medical

STUDENT HEALTH INSURANCE

Building 44, Room A-40; Telephone: (202) 274-5030

To ensure the health and wellness of the University community, the University of the District of Columbia requires health insurance coverage for all students. Proof of adequate personal health insurance coverage must be provided at the beginning of the semester for new, readmit, or transfer students and once per academic year thereafter for continuing students. Students unable to demonstrate adequate health insurance coverage are mandated to enroll in the comprehensive student injury and sickness plan offered through the University. This requirement assures some relief of the burden of expensive health care and instills within the students the lifetime responsibility of obtaining quality health insurance and the importance of maintaining their health. A mandatory fee for the student health insurance plan (SHIP) is automatically charged to students' accounts during the registration period (fall, spring, summer). Enrollment in the SHIP can be waived if a student has other adequate coverage. Students with other adequate coverage may elect to decline the SHIP coverage and receive a credit on their student account by submitting an online waiver form. Students must submit a waiver or enroll in the SHIP between the first and last days of scheduled registration period. Failure to submit an online waiver providing proof of health insurance coverage will result in the non-refundable insurance premium charge for that semester or academic school year. While the health insurance information contained in this printing of the Handbook is current, the insurance premium charge is subject to change at any time. For more information, please visit www.udc.edu/student_affairs/student_health_insurance.

UNIVERSITY POLICE AND ENVIRONMENTAL SAFETY

Your safety on campus is vitally important. It is the responsibility of the Department of Public Safety and Emergency Management (University Police) to keep the University community informed about safety, security, and environmental measures that are vital to your wellbeing and quality of life.

CAMPUS SECURITY & CRIME AWARENESS

Consistent with federal mandate and associated reporting requirements encompassed by the "Jeanne Cleary Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act" (originally known as the "Crime Awareness and Campus Security Act of 1990"), the Department of Public Safety is responsible for the compilation, publication, and distribution of an annual report by October 1 of each year. The purpose of this publication is to provide current and prospective students and employees with accurate, complete and timely information about safety on campus. Additional information mandated by this Act and provided by way of this annual publication includes campus safety policies and procedures, statistical information concerning crimes that occur on and near the campus, statements about campus law enforcement policies, campus security education and prevention programs, and other valuable information concerning crime awareness and campus safety. Copies of the Department's annual report (Campus Safety and Security Brochure) can be obtained from the Office of Public Safety/Police Communications (Building 39, Room C-04). When emergency call stations are activated, the location and origin of the call is displayed in Police Communications and an officer is immediately dispatched. Call boxes are easily identifiable. They are yellow in color and equipped with a blue strobe light that pulses upon activation.

- The Department has an excellent working relationship with the Metropolitan Police Department (MPD) and other federal, state and local law enforcement agencies. If you are a victim of a crime, whether on or off campus, the University Police will assist you with appropriate guidance. For direct access to municipal emergency response services (police, fire, and ambulance) dial 911 (or 9+911 from a University telephone).

CRIME PREVENTION

The University Police Department participates in student, faculty and staff orientations, as well as various youth programs, and other functions that are sponsored by the University throughout the academic year. Additionally, preventative literature, presentations, and programs are made available to students, faculty and staff in order to ensure that appropriate and timely information about safety and security is communicated. Crime prevention information and safety related tips are also disseminated through the University's email announcements or by University-wide Campus Alert "LiveSafe," as appropriate. THE OFFICE OF ACADEMIC ADVISING AND RETENTION

The academic advising process is the most important step in your matriculation at the University. Students should meet with their academic advisors a minimum of three times a semester. It is especially important that students meet their advisors prior to each registration period. Advisors assist students in developing an academic plan that ensures that all University-wide, college or school major department requirements are taken in the appropriate sequence. In addition, advisors help students choose elective courses, practicum placements and co-curricular experiences that are beneficial to students' future career goals. Academic advisors also provide useful information about professional trends, career options and pathways available to students who complete a specific program of study.

The Academic Advising Center

Building 39, Room 112; Telephone: 274-6899; Email: aac@udc.edu

Our mission is to help every one of our students receive the academic support necessary to foster their success here at the University of the District of Columbia and beyond. To this end, the Center supports incoming and continuing students as they explore their talents, discover new interests, and learn to navigate the University. We can help students select a field of study, identify courses of interest, and set a concrete degree plan, thereby helping them clarify their academic goals. We want to assure that all students have consistent, timely access to advising services, receive accurate academic information, and support from professional and faculty academic advisors.

What We Do

We assist students in:

- advisement in general education and graduation requirements
- guidance in major selection and referrals to academic departments
- information on and referrals to campus offices and student support services
- assistance in understanding and navigating academic probationary status
- resources on how to improve your study skills—such as time management tools, test-taking strategies, and note-taking tips opportunities to meet and interact with other students

Who is my academic advisor?

The Academic Advising Center serves all students seeking academic advising assistance.

Freshman and Sophomores are advised by advisors from the Academic Advising Center regardless of major. Freshman and sophomores (< credit 60 hours) are encouraged to engage and connect with a faculty advisor from their declared major.

Juniors and Seniors (>60 credit hours) are advised by faculty advisors from their program of study.

Students who have selected a major are assigned a faculty advisor in the department/program in which they intend to major. The Department Chairperson is responsible for assigning an advisor to every student who has declared a major. Refer to the list of Department Chairpersons and office locations in the Schedule of Classes to identify the office you need to consult.

Discrimination and Harassment Policy/Title IX

Approved: UDC Board of Trustees

April 27, 2011

The following information is an excerpt from the UDC Discrimination and Harassment Policy located on the Equal Opportunity webpage at:

http://www.udc.edu/docs/equal_opportunity/Discrimination_Harassment_Policy.pdf

Statement

The University of the District of Columbia strives to provide an educational and working environment for all faculty, staff and students that is free from all forms of discrimination and harassment, including sexual harassment. It is committed to providing an environment that treasures diversity and emphasizes the dignity and worth of every individual, an environment in which every individual is treated with respect. Discrimination and harassment in any form are inimical to these goals and fundamentally at odds with the values of the University. Discrimination and harassment are violations of University policy and will not be tolerated. Individuals who engage in such conduct may be subject to disciplinary action.

This policy is designed to do the following:

- Reaffirm the University's commitment to providing a positive environment for study and work free from discrimination and harassment;
- Provide notice to all members of the University community of what kind of conduct is expected and what kind of conduct is proscribed;
- Inform victims of discrimination or harassment, including sexual harassment, of their options and rights;
- Inform all members of the University community about the procedures available at the University for addressing, investigating, and resolving discrimination and harassment complaints, including sexual harassment complaints;
- Protect the rights and confidentiality of all parties to discrimination and harassment complaints to the fullest extent possible;
- Prevent retaliation against persons alleging discrimination or sexual or other unlawful harassment or against persons cooperating in an investigation.

I. Prohibited Conduct

A. Discrimination

It is the policy of the University to prohibit discrimination of members of the University community on the basis of actual or perceived race, color, religion, national origin, sex, age, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, family responsibilities, matriculation, political affiliation, marital status, personal appearance, genetic information, familial status, source of income, status as a victim of intra-family offense, place of residence or business, or status as a covered veteran, as provided for and to the extent required by District and Federal statutes and regulations.

B. Harassment

Similarly, this policy prohibits unwelcome and offensive acts or communications directed to individuals or groups because of actual or perceived race, color, religion, national origin, sex, age, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, family responsibilities, matriculation, political affiliation, marital status, personal appearance, genetic information, familial status, source of income, status as a victim of intra-family offense, place of residence or business, or status as a covered veteran (hereinafter referred to collectively as “protected classes”), as provided for and to the extent required by District and Federal statutes and regulations.

Examples of impermissible harassment include, but are not limited to, the following:

- The use of physical force or violence to restrict the freedom of movement of another person or to endanger the health and safety of another person based on that person’s actual or perceived membership in a protected class;
- Physical or verbal behavior that involves an express or implied threat to interfere or has the reasonably foreseeable effect of interfering with an individual’s personal safety, academic efforts, employment, or participation in University-sponsored extracurricular activities because of that individual’s actual or perceived membership in a protected class, and which causes that individual to have a reasonable apprehension that harm is about to occur;
- Any type of conduct based on an individual’s actual or perceived membership in a protected class, that has the effect of unreasonably interfering with that individual’s work or academic performance or creates an intimidating, hostile or offensive working or learning environment;
- Epithets, slurs or derogatory comments based on a person’s actual or perceived membership in a protected class.

The foregoing must be interpreted in light of one of the fundamental purposes of a University education, which is to teach students to think, write and express themselves critically. This is a demanding skill and students must confront in stark, and sometimes painful ways, the comfortable assumptions that they bring to the University experience. Instruction in critical thinking very well may involve saying or presenting materials that are felt by individuals to be offensive or embarrassing. In such cases, students should deal directly with the faculty member involved, the department chair or the Dean of the applicable school or college. See the section on Academic Freedom.

This policy is not intended to address normal differences of opinion that arise but are not based on a person’s actual or perceived membership in a protected class. In the case of students, those matters may be addressed through the appropriate faculty or staff member. Faculty or staff with concerns regarding such differences of opinion not based on actual or perceived membership in a protected class, are to address them with their respective supervisor.

C. Sexual Harassment

The University of the District of Columbia is committed to maintaining an environment in which all faculty, staff, and students work and learn in an environment free from sex discrimination and sexual harassment.

1. Definition

Sexual harassment is defined as unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors and other verbal or written communication, or physical conduct of a sexual nature, which constitute sexual harassment when:

- a. Submission to such conduct is made either explicitly or implicitly a term or condition of an individual’s employment or education;
- b. Submission to or rejection of such conduct by an individual is used as the basis for academic or employment decisions or evaluations; or

- c. Such conduct has the effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual's work performance or learning or of creating an intimidating, hostile, or offensive environment.

This definition applies to both the employment and non-employment contexts, including relationships between faculty and students, academic decisions regarding students, and the environment in which students function.

The University acknowledges that sexual harassment may be committed by persons of any gender against persons of any gender. Although sexual harassment most often exploits a relationship between individuals of unequal power (e.g., between faculty/staff member and student, or a supervisor and employee/faculty member), it may also occur between individuals of equal power (e.g., between fellow students or co-workers), or in some circumstances even where it appears that the harasser has less power than the individual harassed (e.g., a student sexually harassing a staff/faculty member). Third parties can also commit sexual harassment against students, staff or faculty.

2. Examples of Sexual Harassment

Sexual harassment can take many different forms. The determination of what constitutes harassment violation of University policy will vary according to the particular circumstances.

Examples of sexual harassment include, but are not limited to, the following situations:

- Unwelcome sexual propositions, invitations, solicitations, and flirtations; leering;
- Unwelcome and inappropriate touching, patting, fondling, pinching, or obscene gestures;
- Conditioning an employment-related action (such as hiring, promotion, salary increase, performance appraisal, or refraining from discipline or termination) on a sexual favor or relationship;
- Conditioning an academic-related action (such as a grade, assignment, or refraining from discipline) on a sexual favor or relationship;
- Unwelcome verbal expressions of a sexual nature, including: graphic sexual commentaries about a person's body, dress, appearance, or sexual activities; the unwelcome use of sexually degrading language, jokes or innuendos; unwelcome suggestive or insulting sounds or whistles; or obscene telephone calls;
- Sexually suggestive objects, pictures, videotapes, audio recordings or literature, or computerized transmissions placed in a work or study area that may embarrass or offend individuals, subject to general principles of academic freedom discussed below;
- Sexual assault, coerced sexual intercourse or other sexual contact; or
- Any combination of the above conduct, which has the effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual's work or academic environment.

II. Academic Freedom

The Board of Trustees of the University has accepted and endorsed a definition of academic freedom which includes basic rights and responsibilities to teach and discuss topics pertinent to understanding the subject matter of the course being taught; to conduct research and publish the results; and to speak or act in the capacity of a citizen without institutional censorship or discipline. Conduct claimed to constitute discrimination or harassment must be interpreted in light of the principle of academic freedom so as to protect a faculty member's rights to teach, research and publish freely. The University does not intend that this policy will be used to address the typical differences of opinion that may arise in the academic setting and are part of the normal process of teaching and learning.

III. Consensual Relationships

Consensual relationships may create conflicts of interest and/or appearances of impropriety that impair the integrity of academic or employment decisions. These relationships also have the potential to exploit a subordinate employee or student; to create professional or academic disadvantage of other parties; and to expose the University and/or involved individuals to the risk of liability.

The University strongly discourages consensual relationships between faculty or staff members and students or between supervisors and subordinates. This is particularly so with regard to students who are currently enrolled in a class taught by a faculty member or who are currently employed by a faculty or staff member in any capacity, where the question of consent is complicated by the difference in power that exists between faculty or staff and students in such circumstances. Similarly, an implicit imbalance of power exists between supervisory personnel and staff, which also raises the issue of consent.

The University expects its faculty, staff, supervisors, and administrators to act in a fair, impartial manner when making decisions, avoiding every appearance of impropriety or favoritism that might arise from consensual relationships.

IV. Duties of Members of the University Community

A. All Associated with the University

Each member of the University community plays a significant role in ensuring that the University is free from all forms of discrimination and harassment, and that any incidents of discrimination or harassment are promptly reported.

If a member of the University community believes they have been subjected to discriminatory or harassing conduct, that individual is advised to report the matter to the Human Resource Compliance Officer (who may include Equal Opportunity (EO) Officer/Title IX Coordinator/Section 504-ADA Coordinator):

Office of Human Resources
Administration Building (39), 2nd Floor
4200 Connecticut Ave., NW, Washington DC 20008
202-274-5442

Alternatively, an individual may report the incident to a Vice President or Dean. Those individuals are required to report any alleged incidents of discrimination or harassment to the Human Resource Compliance Officer Coordinator as promptly as possible.

The University cannot take action to punish and deter discrimination and harassment if it is not aware that it has occurred. Similarly, the University may not be able to investigate anonymous complaints unless sufficient information is provided to enable the University to conduct a meaningful investigation.

B. Supervisory Employees

It is the responsibility of supervisors, chairs, deans, department heads, and other managers to:

- Immediately notify the Human Resource Compliance Officer when they receive reports or complaints of discrimination or harassment;
- Immediately notify the Human Resource Compliance Officer they observe or otherwise become aware of incidents of discrimination or harassment; and
- Implement any corrective actions imposed as a result of findings of discrimination or harassment.

Any employee or student-employee in a supervisory or managerial capacity who has knowledge of incidents of discrimination or harassment, including sexual harassment, who does not report the matter to the Human Resource Compliance Officer may be subject to disciplinary action up to and including discharge from employment from the University.

C. Faculty, Staff and Students

It is the responsibility of the faculty, staff, and students to discourage discrimination and harassment, regardless of whether they are the person(s) discriminated against or harassed. Any faculty member, staff employee, student-employee, or student who believes he/she is the victim of discrimination or harassment; who witnesses discrimination or harassment; or who receives a report of discrimination or harassment is advised to refer the victim to the Human Resource Compliance Officer and promptly report the incident to and confer with the Human Resource Compliance Officer or other employees as described in this policy.

V. Prohibition on Retaliation

Any action taken by the University or any employee or agent of the University to restrain, interfere, coerce or otherwise adversely affect a person's employment, personal safety, academic efforts or participation in University-sponsored activities as a result of that person's allegation of discrimination or harassment or cooperation in such an investigation or adjudication is strictly prohibited. Retaliation may be found even where the underlying complaint was not sustained.

No faculty member, administrator or staff, applicant for employment, or student may be subject to retaliation for action taken in good faith: to seek advice concerning a discrimination or harassment matter; to file a discrimination or harassment complaint; or to serve as a witness or a panel member in the investigation or adjudication of a discrimination or harassment complaint.

It shall not be retaliation, however, for an accused to defend himself/herself against a charge of discrimination or harassment under this policy. Nor shall it be considered retaliation to discipline an individual for false and malicious accusations as set forth in this policy.

Retaliation, if established, may result in disciplinary action against the offending party up to and including discharge from employment or dismissal/expulsion from the University.

VI. Dealing with Discrimination or Harassment

In addition to reporting an alleged incident of discrimination or harassment, any person who perceives himself or herself to be the victim of harassment in violation of this policy may consider taking one or more of the procedural steps described below, as applicable.

A. Self-Help

An initial course of action for any faculty, staff, or student who feels that he or she has been harassed or discriminated against may be for that person to emphatically tell or otherwise inform the discriminator or harasser that the conduct is unwelcome, offensive, violates this policy, and must stop. This may solve the problem, and, if it does, further proceedings may not be necessary. This option is most appropriate when the alleged conduct is not of a severe or pervasive nature.

B. Counseling

Once reported to the Human Resource Compliance Officer, a student who perceives himself or herself as a victim of discrimination or harassment may also contact one of the Counselors in the Division for Student Affairs for advice and counseling.

Employees who feel discriminated against or harassed may wish to speak with a representative of the University's Employee Assistance Provider (EAP, COPE, Inc.) for free counseling or for online services provided 24 hours visit <http://www.cope-inc.com/dc-eap/index.shtml>.

VII. Filing a Discrimination or Harassment Complaint

An employee who believes that he or she has been subjected to discrimination or harassment and wishes to file a formal complaint must avail themselves of the procedures set forth below. This allows the University and the individual to work together in an effort to obtain a resolution to allegations of discrimination or harassment.

VIII. University Complaint Procedure for Students

1. Reporting Complaints

A student who perceives herself/himself to be the victim of discrimination or harassment should report the incident to the Human Resource Compliance Officer (which may be Equal Opportunity (EO) Officer/Title IX Coordinator/Section 504-ADA Coordinator). Students may also report allegations to a professor, department chair, Dean, supervisor, or Vice President. If a professor, department chair, Dean, supervisor, or Vice President observes or learns of the allegation of discrimination or harassment, they are obligated to report the matter to the Human Resource Compliance Officer immediately.

2. Required Information

A complaint must be in writing and shall include the name(s), date(s), time(s), a detailed description of the allegations, requested corrective action and any other relevant information on which the complaint is based. The complainant must sign the complaint and be willing to have their identity disclosed to the respondent, if necessary.

3. Filing Timelines

A complaint of discrimination or harassment in educational programs or activities must be filed within one hundred eighty (180) calendar days following the date of alleged discrimination or harassment took place.

4. Investigation of Complaints

The Equal Opportunity will investigate the allegations brought by the complainant and work to conclude the investigation within sixty (60) days. During the investigation, the Human Resource Compliance Officer will:

- Orally apprise the respondent of the charge of harassment.
- Elicit from the respondent an explanation of what occurred from his/her perspective.
- Investigate the allegations by conducting interviews or gathering other relevant information.
- Attempt in a non-legalistic, non-threatening manner to facilitate a solution acceptable to both the complainant and the respondent.
- Act as mediator, when necessary, and conduct a meeting between the complainant and the respondent, if appropriate.
- Keep the Vice President for Human Resources (or designee) apprised of the status of the complaint and, when appropriate, secure advice in the handling of the complaint.
- Take such other steps deemed appropriate by the Vice President for Human Resources (or designee).

5. Resolution of Complaints

At the conclusion of the investigation, the Human Resource Compliance Officer shall conduct an exit interview with both parties and issue an exit letter notifying the outcome. If a violation of University policy is found, Human Resource Compliance Officer shall notify the respondent of the corrective action to be taken and notify the complainant of the findings and that appropriate corrective action has been or will be taken. If a violation of University policy is not found, the Human Resource Compliance Officer shall notify the complainant and respondent of the findings. The investigation shall be completed within a reasonable amount of time from notice of the complaint, depending on the allegations presented.

A confidential, written summary of the investigation and the actions taken under this complaint procedure will be prepared by the Human Resource Compliance Officer for the University's use and, together with any other documentation, maintained in an "EO" file in the Human Resources Department for at least seven (7) years in accordance with the University's record retention policy and applicable law.

6. Filing with External Agencies

Persons who believe that they have been subjected to discrimination and/or harassment may be able to file a complaint with Federal and/or District government agencies, e.g. the D.C. Office of Human Rights, the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, or the U.S. Department of Education's Office for Civil Rights.

The University encourages students, staff, and faculty to utilize the internal complaint process prior to filing an external complaint.

7. University Investigations

Very often, an individual who perceives himself or herself to be the victim of discrimination or harassment in violation of this policy may be reluctant to pursue the remedies provided in this section. Similarly, the Human Resources Department may become aware of an alleged incident of discrimination or harassment even though the alleged victim has not reported it. Incidents of discrimination and harassment pose legal risks for the University. The Human Resources Department reserves the right to conduct its own investigations into reported incidents of discrimination or harassment and take appropriate measures even in the case of an alleged victim who is unwilling to report or pursue the matter.

8. Disciplinary Sanctions

Disciplinary actions for discriminatory or harassing behavior may include one or more of the following:

- Sanctions as stipulated in the Code of Student Conduct, as applicable;
- Requirement to attend training or other education;
- Requirement to obtain counseling;
- Work restrictions;
- An oral or written warning (or letter of concern);
- A written reprimand;
- Suspension; and/or
- Dismissal/expulsion.

Disciplinary sanctions and process will be implemented consistent with any applicable collective bargaining agreement.

9. Malicious and False Accusations

If allegations of discrimination or harassment are determined by the Investigator, in consultation with the Vice President for Human Resources or designee, to be both false and brought with malicious intent, the matter will be sent to the Vice President for Human Resources (or designee) with a report and a written recommendation. The complainant may be subject to the disciplinary sanctions set forth above, as determined by either the Office of Human Resources (employees) or the Office of Student Affairs (students).

IX. Documentation

Documentation can be informal handwritten notes taken by the Investigator, the Human Resource Compliance Officer or another member of the University community while speaking with an individual. Documentation may also consist of: testimonial evidence provided during an investigation or a hearing; documentary evidence submitted during an investigation or a hearing; a typed-up after-the-fact recounting of a process or its results; and/or an explanation prepared for the record as to why the Investigator or member of the University community took a particular step or reached a particular decision with regard to a discrimination or harassment complaint. Documentation can be handwritten, voice transcribed, typewritten, or in any printed or electronic form.

The amount of documentation which is reasonable and prudent with regard to any of the processes outlined in this policy is left to the judgment of the Human Resources Department and the Human Resources Compliance Officer. The Human Resources Department shall from time to time prescribe forms or required documents for the processes established by this policy, as it deems necessary.

All documentation required to be maintained by the Human Resources Department shall be available only to that Department, any other person conducting an investigation under this policy, the University's legal counsel, or other duly authorized District or Federal agency.

X. Confidentiality

It is to be expected that, at all stages of any proceedings under this policy, confidentiality will be maintained to the greatest extent possible. Consistent with their obligations, all roles described herein are expected to maintain the highest standards of confidentiality. Communication by these persons with others with regard to discrimination and harassment complaints can be only on a required "need to know" basis.

Others necessarily involved, such as the complainant, the respondent, and witnesses, will be encouraged to keep confidential to the greatest extent possible matters about which they or others provide testimony or information. With regard to such individuals, however, the University has no means by which to ensure strict confidentiality other than by providing notice of the standards of confidentiality by which the University expects all individuals involved to abide.

COOPERATION WITH LAW ENFORCEMENT AUTHORITIES

The University cooperates fully with law enforcement authorities. Violations of the Code that are also violations of federal or local law may be referred to the appropriate non- University authority. In such situations, a case may proceed concurrently under this Code while it is also being processed under the criminal justice system.

The University of the District of Columbia Police (UDCP) works closely with area law enforcement agencies, particularly the Washington, DC Metropolitan Police Department (MPD). UDCP officers have full powers of arrest, search and seizure on all University-owned and operated property, and are usually the first to respond to calls for police services on campus. However, complainants may request that MPD respond to any reported offense or incident that may violate the law.

STUDENT'S RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES

It is the student's responsibility to adhere to the following:

Preserve an Environment Conducive to Learning

The University has the inherent authority to maintain good order and discipline in the furtherance of its lawful mission. The Code of Student Conduct clearly and concisely identifies those behaviors that put students at risk of disciplinary action. The Code of Student Conduct also assures that students enjoy those protected behaviors inherent in their status as students and enumerated under the student's rights including their right to receive fair and equitable evaluation of their academic performance and to challenge any evaluation they believe to be unfair or inappropriate. Students are held accountable to the University's Code of Student Conduct.

Respect the Rights of Others

The strength of the University lies in its diversity. Respect for the differences each student, faculty, and staff person brings to the institution is essential. Such differences include race, gender, sexual orientation, ethnicity, background, beliefs, experiences, cultures, values, views, national origin, religion, and disability. Students come to the University with unique interests, and while they are on campus, as a result of their interactions in the formal classroom and in the co-curriculum activities of the campus, they are able to continue to develop and expand their pursuits.

Obey Federal, State and Local Laws and the Policies of the University

Teaching and learning require an atmosphere where dialogue, debate, and the exchange of ideas can flourish unfettered and unthreatened. The sanctity of the classroom, academic freedom, and the student's freedom of expression all require a separate set of standards than those provided for by our society. Students must not only adhere to the rules of our society because they are the law, they must also adhere to those University policies which establishes the institution as a place where teaching and learning require a different set of standards.

Cooperate with Faculty, Staff and Administrators to Further the Mission of the University

Accessing the opportunities offered by the University is dependent upon students' ability to meet their responsibilities to provide accurate information, meet their financial obligations (i.e., meeting payment deadlines on tuition payment plans, filing for financial aid in a timely manner) and advocate for their needs. The freedom to teach and the freedom to learn are inseparable facets of the collegiate experience. Additionally, while enrolled in the University, students are expected to take an active voice in curricular and co-curricular interests (e.g., USGA, Debate Society, Homecoming, and the Honda All-Star Challenge Team); be active participants in the formulation of institutional policies, by serving on University wide committees; maintain the standards set for satisfactory academic progress; cultivate their lifelong learning skills, through community service; and act in a manner on and off campus which reflects positively upon themselves, the University and our community.

The Code of Student Conduct identifies those behaviors considered unacceptable in academic and nonacademic settings and are not permitted by students of the University while on University property, University sponsored activities or while representing the University in the community. Articles I- IX define the procedures and related policies for academic and non-academic misconduct and are outlined below:

Academic misconduct should be reported to (1) the faculty member who is teaching the course and has responsibility for grading, and (2) the respective Dean of the College/School in which the academic misconduct allegedly occurred. Any University employee who becomes aware of alleged academic misconduct must immediately report said misconduct to the Office of the Vice President for Academic Affairs.

of a charge of misconduct, the faculty member shall schedule a meeting with the charged student in an attempt to resolve the allegation.

 - d. Refer the matter for a Second Level Resolution.

These remedies remain in the discretion of the faculty member.

If the matter is not resolved at the faculty level, the Dean shall notify the Hearing Committee in the College/School in which the academic misconduct allegedly occurred within three (3) business days.
4. Student's right to appeal: The student may, within ten (10) business days of the date the faculty member transmits notice under subsection B. 3. of this Article, appeal the decision of the faculty member to the appropriate College Hearing Committee.

C. Second Level: Formal Hearing Resolution

Academic misconduct shall proceed to a formal hearing resolution if either (1) the faculty member determines that informal pre-hearing resolution is inappropriate, or (2) the student appeals the outcome of informal pre-hearing resolution.

1. College/School Hearing Committee: Formal hearing resolution shall be conducted by a College/School Hearing Committee, which shall investigate allegations of academic misconduct and recommend appropriate sanctions. The Chair shall determine whether the challenge has merit, and such determination will be final. At the start of the hearing procedure, the Chair shall establish with all members present if there is any conflict of interest that may compromise the integrity of the hearing. If so, the respective members of the Committee will be directed to recuse themselves immediately from the proceed-

- The student may make a written submission to the hearing.
- The student may be accompanied at the hearing by an individual who is a member of the University. The individual is present as a support to the student and is not an advocate or spokesperson for the student. In exceptional cases, for example a student with a disability which affects communication, the Chair may give permission for the individual to speak on behalf of the student.
- Neither the student nor any other person participating in the hearing is entitled to be legally represented.

Prior to the hearing, the Committee shall provide the student with a copy of (or access to) all written materials and other evidence available to the committee.

Should the decision affect the enrollment status of the student, notification will also be sent to the Registrar who will annotate the academic record with the specific disciplinary action.

If a student has been found guilty of academic misconduct on more than one occasion and has previously been penalized, the penalty shall normally be expulsion from the program, unless in the opinion of the relevant Committee there are mitigating circumstances.

3. Committee's Recommendation: The Chair, no later than five (5) business days after the Committee makes its recommendation, shall notify the Dean of the home college or school of the recommendation.

4. Student Advisor Listing: Students who receive notice to appear at a judicial proceeding may choose an advisor from a list which consists of impartial University faculty or staff. The student may meet and confer with their advisor regarding what to expect as it relates to the procedures of the judicial process. Such challenge must be made to the Judicial Hearing Officer prior to the student's hearing before the committee, or else the challenge to a Committee member's partiality is waived. The Judicial Hearing Officer shall determine whether the challenge has merit, and as such the determination will be final. At the start of the hearing procedure, the Judicial Hearing Officer shall establish with all members present if there is any conflict of interest that may compromise the integrity of this hearing. If so, the respective Committee members will be directed to recuse themselves immediately from the proceeding.
2. Option of Resolution by Judicial Hearing Officer: A student charged with alleged non-academic misconduct may choose to have a hearing before the Judicial Hearing Officer only. Otherwise, the student may elect to have a hearing before the Judicial Hearing Committee. APPENDIX III

University of the District of Columbia

Harassment Procedure

Related Policies and Procedures: Sexual Harassment Policy

Approved: Dr. Allen L. Sessoms, President

January 16, 2009

The following information on the Sexual Harassment Policy is an excerpt from the Harassment Procedures located in the Office of Human Resources, Building 38, Room 301.

Statement

The University of the District of Columbia strives to provide an educational and working environment that is free from all forms of harassment, including sexual harassment for all faculty, staff, and students. It is committed to providing an environment that treasures diversity and emphasizes the dignity and worth of every individual, an environment in which every individual is treated with respect. Harassment in any form is inimical to these goals and fundamentally at odds with the values of the University. It is unacceptable behavior and will not be tolerated. This procedure is designed to do the following:

- reaffirm the University's commitment to providing a positive environment for study and work free from harassment;
- let all members of the University community know what kind of conduct is expected and what kind of conduct is proscribed;
- inform victims of harassment, including sexual harassment, of their options and rights;
- inform all members of the University community about the procedures available at the University for addressing, investigating, and resolving harassment complaints, including sexual harassment complaints;
- protect the rights and confidentiality of all parties to harassment complaints to the extent possible; and
- prevent retaliation against persons alleging sexual and other unlawful harassment or against persons cooperating in an investigation.

Prohibited Conduct

A. Harassment

Unwelcome or offensive acts or communications directed at individuals or groups because of actual or perceived race, color, religion, national origin, sex, age, marital status, personal appearance, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, familial status, family responsibilities, matriculation, political affiliation, genetic information, disability, source of income.

B. Sexual Harassment

For the same reasons listed above, it is the procedure of the University that all faculty, staff, and students work and learn in an environment free from sexual harassment. Sexual harassment is also a violation of both federal and district laws.

Definition

The Equal Employment Opportunity Commission defines sexual harassment in an employment situation as follows. Unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors and other verbal or written communication, or physical conduct of a sexual nature constitute sexual harassment when: a. submission to such conduct is made either explicitly or implicitly a term or condition of an individual's employment or academic standing; b. submission to or rejection of such conduct by an individual is used as the basis for employment decisions or academic standing affecting such individual; or c. such conduct has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual's work performance or learning or creating an intimidating, hostile, or offensive environment. This definition for the employment context may be extrapolated to apply as well to non-employment situations, such as relationships between faculty and students, academic decisions regarding students, and the environment in which students function.

Academic Freedom

The Board of Trustees of the University has accepted and endorsed a definition of academic freedom which includes basic rights and responsibilities to teach and discuss topics pertinent to understanding the subject matter of the course being taught; to conduct research and publish the results; and to speak or act in the capacity of a citizen without institutional censorship or discipline.

Consensual Relationships

The University very strongly discourages consensual relationships of an intimate or sexual nature between faculty or staff members and students because, among other reasons, they pose great potential for sexual harassment problems. This is particularly so with regard to students who are currently enrolled in a class taught by a faculty member or who are currently employed by a faculty or staff member in any capacity. Because the question of consent is complicated by the difference in power that exists between faculty or staff and students in such circumstances, and, the difference in power can give rise to the appearance of impropriety, faculty and staff are cautioned against entering such relationships with students.

Procedures for Dealing with Harassment

In addition to reporting an alleged incident of harassment, any person who perceives himself or herself to be the victim of harassment in violation of this procedure should promptly take one or more of the procedural steps described below, as applicable. The University strongly encourages any person, including students, to report the matter directly to the Human Resources (HR) Department, Building 38, Room 301.

A. Self-Help

An initial course of action for any faculty, staff, or student who feels that he or she has been harassed may be for that person to emphatically tell or otherwise inform the harasser that the conduct is unwelcome, offensive, violates this procedure, and must stop. This may solve the problem, and, if it does, further proceedings will usually not be necessary.

B. Counseling

Once reported to the Human Resources (HR) Department, a student who perceives himself or herself as a victim of harassment may also contact one of the Counselors in the Division for Student Affairs for advice and counseling.

Note: A copy of the complete Harassment Procedure may be obtained from the Office of Student Affairs, Human Resources, Learning Resource Division or from the Human Resources Department. A copy is also located on the UDC website: www.udc.edu.
